SERVICE

"HAT'S happened to the light?" you ex-VV claim in surprise and consternation when you press a button and nothing happens.

Electric service is so uniformly good, and interruptions so infrequent, the public has taken for granted this high standard of service. Forgotten are the days when interruptions were accepted with resignation as being inevitable; the days when candles were always kept on hand

> Like a man biting a dog, interruption in utility service nowadays is news

Back of this high standard of service are long years of research and experiments. With high faith in the future of the electrical industry, a determination to bring that service to the highest possible standard, and at a price that would put it within the reach of the humblest pocketbook, advantage has been taken of every improvement in the art of generating and distributing electrical energy.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

To the Customers of Alabama Power Company:

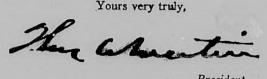

In our last letter, we touched upon the decline in sales of electricity during the depression. You will be interested in the trend of our gross revenues for the past four years, as shown by the following tabulation:

1929_____$18,301,845 1930______ 17,865,473 1931 17,727,713 1932______ 15,564,976

Three main factors have contributed to a loss in gross income of $2,750,000 in 1932 as compared with 1929. These factors are the loss of 12,500 customers who were compelled to discontinue electric service, reduced use by the remaining customers, and rate reductions.

Our customers generally are not aware that rate reductions since 1929 have effected savings in the cost of the service approximating $1,400,-000 each year. Residential and rural customers and other small-volume users, such as cotton gins, have been the chief beneficiaries of these reductions.

While loss of business has made it necessary to operate our plants far below their normal capacity, it has not brought corresponding reductions in our expenses. That is because the cost of operating a large utility system such as ours cannot be reduced below a certain minimum whether the hydro plants are running full time or only part time.

Mr. Martin gazed thoughtfully as to be sold? And she was eight at the ceiling above Ruth's head. Presently he asked, "Did this man Innow that ye a were the only benevity of the control o ficiary of your brother's will?"

The Alabama Methodist Orphanage Appeals To You

Forty years ago the Alabama Methodist Orphanage was founded by the Methodist Church to provide healthy, Christian, homelike surroundings for little ones who had been left without other possibilities of existence. For forty years children have received every possible care at the Alabama Methodist Orphanage . . . babies have grown into useful men and women and have gone forth from the Orphanage to take their places in the world.

Today the Alabama Methodist Orphanage owns 200 acres...a model farm, scientifically operated by a young man who grew up from infancy in the Orphanage. . . a dairy farm, a poultry farm, a pecan orchard. There is today a splendid administration building, a recreation building, dormitory, individual cottage system of housing, each group under the direction of a trained matron . . . a private bus system for taking the children to and from school and church.

The Christmas Offering It's Our Living--It's Our All

But these last few years have brought to the Alabama Methodist Orphanage more children to care for . . . and less funds with which to provide for them. There are today 150 children at the Orphanage and their need is a crying one. We must appeal to you for help. The depression is on our Orphanage. Our resources have been used up. We are now in debt for running expenses. This cannot continue. Our credit is in danger.

We have these 150 homeless boys and girls, with their little bodies. bright minds and immortal spirits. What will we do about it? Give us your answer on December 24th . . . the Sunday before Christmas, which has been set aside by the Conferences as the day on which to make a special offering for the Orphanage. Our family of 150 boys and girls are expecting Santa Claus. They must not be disappointed.

Funds . . . of course we need funds desperately. But there are other ways in which you can help. Have you tucked away in your attic or store room clothing, furnishings, furniture that you are not using? We can use it. Below are listed some of the things that can be used by the Orphanage. Check it. Help us all you can. Please . . do your very best for the little ones in our care.

> Articles that can be used by the Alabama Orphanage

All kinds of clothing for boys and girls, ages 3 to 20. Sheets, pillow cases. Towels, wash cloths, cup towels, bedspreads, fruit, canned goods, dresser scarfs. All kinds of vegetables, feedstuff for stock. All

Congratulations, ELBA!

The Officers of the Alabama Utilities Company wish to extend their hearty congratulations to the City of Elba and her enterprising and public-spirited citizens in their successful efforts in obtaining flood protection.

The building of the levee will bring to the business and civic life of the City benefits that could not have been secured had it not been for the whole-hearted support given the enterprise by these loyal citizens.

As your public servant our sincere desire shall be, as it has always been in the past, to render courteous and satisfactory service to consumers of electricity in the City and to aid in every way possible the developmet of the business life of the community.

We shall be glad to help you solve all your lighting problems. Call us at any time.
